

The Psalms

Prayer is a vital tool in case you are being attacked by negative entities and/or psychic attacks. Along the following lines we will give you some recommendations as to the different types of prayers that can be used with the purpose of protecting and defending from different types of psychic attacks.

The first recommendation regarding prayers is in the Psalms of the Bible. These prayers were a divine inspiration received directly from God, most of them by David and some of by Moses. These prayers of praise are the most powerful, purifying and protecting prayers in our planet and it has been proved that they work well against all type of negative entities that may be attacking you, your family or home. If you just want to practice one teaching of this book, the Psalms are without a doubt the best you can do. If you pray them with devotion, you will see results in short periods of time.

We have seen at firsthand how people with different afflictions and demonic possession had been able to transcend by themselves the power of these evil influences by praying Psalms remaining strong in their faith towards God. They had been freed from these massive loads that demonic entities can put on them and express through their emotions and minds. Several times people are diagnosed with modern mental illnesses which roots are classic cases of demonic possession. This obviously is not something that can be scientifically proved. However, by practising devotional praying of the Psalms it can be proved that in many cases people recover from symptoms that were initially catalogued as psychological conditions.

Psalms are prayers that cannot be interpreted mentally but received in the heart as this chants invoke the presence and energy of God in the aura and being of the individual, situation which occurs if you are mentally open to it. We have to bear in mind that the Psalms were received in other times and cultures and what is expressed on them is what they needed to receive from God on that very moment. However, this does not decrease their power and effectiveness in anyway, providing that we need with the same urgency than in those times.